

CRAIG ULLMANN

Craig is a Colorado native and has nearly 20 years of experience in water resource engineering at Applegate Group. During this time he has worked on a wide variety of raw water infrastructure projects including canal rehabilitation, canal lining, river diversions, pipelines, inverted siphon design, canal modernization, and flow measurement structures. Craig has also worked on dam design, hydrologic and hydraulic analysis, dam breach analysis and a variety of dam rehabilitation projects. Craig has served as a DARCA board member since 2008. He currently lives on the western slope of Colorado in the Town of Hotchkiss and also assists his wife with running an herbal tea farm on their property.